WAR IS DECLARED BY THE SULTAN

FIRST BATTLE WAS FOUGHT ON SATURDAY.

The Armies of Greece and Turkey Met, And Three Greek Officers of High Standing Are Among the Killed—Fleet Warships Can Be Gotten Together Quickly.

London, April 19.—War has broken out between Greece and Turkey. Fierce battles have been fought at Karya, at Milouna pass and at Prevesa on the Gulf of Aeta. The most desperate battle was fought at Milouna pass where 20,000 men fought more than thirty hours without food or sleep.

KING OF GREECE.

Diplomatic relations between the two nations have been severed. Turkey insists that Greece has provoked the conflict by her aggrtssive attitude on the frontier of Macedonia. On the other hand Greece insists that Turkey has been the aggressor. Crete, which was the original cause of the conflict, seems now to be overlooked.

Unless some of the great powers intercede there is certain to be great loss of human life before the quarrel is settled.

Greek subjects in Constantinople will probably remain under the protection of Mr. Terrell, the American minister.

A dispatch to the Daily Chronicle from Athens, dated midnight, says the Greeks have captured Menaxa after severe fighting. The Turkish losses were very heavy; the Greek comparatively light. The correspondent adds: "The Greek fleet has destroyed half the fortresses at Prevesa and silenced their guns. I am assured that the bombardment will be continued to-morrow (Monday) morning.

"The latest news received here is that the Greeks have captured and hold all the positions except Ana and Milouna along the Thessalian line. I have had access to an important document from a European capital showing that the powers have done nothing for several weeks, because they have hoped that Greece would be either financially ruined or soundly beaten by Turkey. If Turkey gets Larissa she will remain there until Greece evacuates Crete. It was Germany that urged Turkey to declare war."

The correspondent of the Associated press understands that Turkey has no idea of territorial conquest, because she is aware that the powers would not sanction an advance to Athens. The idea is that she will first attempt to capture Larissa, and then march on Trichala and Pharari. If these also are captured Turkey would be in a position to compel Greece to comply with the demands of the powers. The Turkish fleet, however, is still in the Dardanelles, where it is likely to remain as long as the Greeks continue active.

It is reported that the powers, so far from blockading Greek ports, will even allow Col. Vassos and his army to return to Greece if he decides to do so. In any case the Greek fleet would be able to harass Turkey at many points, besides in addition keeping open the supply of provisions and munitions for the Greek army.

The latest advices from Arta show that the rains have been followed by three days of hot, fine weather, and the river, Arakphos, which alone separates the opposing armies, is rapidly shrinking. The hill roads are improving in condition. It is at this point that the severest and deadliest fighting may be expected.

Another question of dominating influence is whether the Greeks can engineer an uprising in Macedonia and the Sporades islands. Russia and Germany are meanwhile content to see Greece and Turkey crippling each other for many years to come, so long as the other Balkan states are kept quiet.

DISCUSSED BY DIPLOMATS.

Much Interest Shown in Washington Regarding the Eastern War.

Washington, April 19.—The grave situation in the east is the topic of discussion in diplomatic and official circles here. The possibility of war between Turkey and Greece has been thought probable for some time, but the official announcement that a state of war exists served to quicken the interest with which the troubles between the two countries have been watched. In diplomatic circles, particularly, where the possibilities of a general conflict in Europe are always regarded as more or less imminent if any of the powers becomes engaged in war, the situatoin was deeply considered. Among officials of the United States who expressed any opinion at all the sentiment seemed general that war between Turkey and Greece is no matter in which this government can in any way become involved, as the few citizens of the United States who reside in the countries concerned are in the cities where they are not liable to be molested, and that the only course for this country to maintain is one of strict neutrality. Opinions vary as to the duration of the conflict. One prominent officer of the navy inclined to the belief that fighting would continue for a short time until the powers of Europe decide that hostilities have proceeded far enough, when they would step in and put an end to it.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS ABROAD.

Formidable Fleet Could Be Gathered Together at Short Notice.

Washington, April 19.—Up to this time there has been, so far as could be learned, no consultation with regard to re-enforcing the fleet of the United States in Mediterranean waters. Should the presence of ships of war of foreign nations be required in Turkish or Grecian waters to protect our citizens as a result of the impending conflicts, the United States could assemble a formidable fleet, if necessary. In the Mediterranean squadron at this time the navy department has four ships—the cruiser San Francisco, the flagship on the station, the triple-screw cruiser Minneapolis and the cruiser Cincinnati, all modern vessels of high type, and the small gunboat Bancroft. The Detroit is now on her way to the Mediterranean from the China station, and now probably is somewhere near the Red sea. Another addition to the fleet will soon be made by the presence of the Raleigh, which is getting ready to join the European station. Other vessels that might be used for service in Europe, if necessary, are the Montgomery, Marblehead, Maine and Texas, all of which are now on the Atlantic coast. The opinion exists, however, that the presence of any number of war vessels will not be necessary.

Greek Troops Are Repulsed.

Elassona, April 19.—The first division of the troops is at Dodmik, the second at Elassona, the fifth at Skompa and the sixth at Karya (or Koskuy). The last two are engaged in defensive operations. The Greeks who have invaded the district of Mount Godoman have been repulsed. Battalions from the divisions at Apium and Karahissar are arriving at Ismudt en route to Rodosts and Muratli in order to reinforce the troops in that district.

POPULISTS TO REORGANIZE.

Reform Press Association Calls for a Convention at Nashville July 4.

Girard, Kas., April 19.—The executive committee of the National Reform Press association has decided to wage war on Marion Butler as chairman of the populist national committee and also to reorganize the populist party. It has issued a call for a national convention at Nashville, July 4, with one delegate for every 250 "middle of the road" populist votes cast at the recent presidential election.

The committee again asked Chairman Butler to call a national convention and this time received a positive refusal. Thereupon the committee issued the call for Nashville.

Asks for $100,000 Damages.

Washington, April 19.—Edward J. Ivory of New York, who was held last year in Newgate prison, London, charged with complicity in a dynamite conspiracy, has filed at the state department a claim against the British government for $100,000 damages for false arrest and imprisonment. Secretary Sherman has officially notified the British ambassador of the claim filed against his government.

Congressman Holman Is Improving.

Washington, April 19.—The condition of Representative Holman of Indiana shows some improvement. His physician believes the alarming features of the case have passed, though he is still very weak. His strength is returning slowly, however.

River Falling at St. Louis.

St. Louis, April 19.—The river here this morning showed a decline of 0.3 of a foot for the last twenty-four hours, and the prediction is that it will change but little during the next two days. Above here, however, slight rises are marked on the Missouri at Boonville and Kansas City and on the Mississippi at Hannibal, Keokuk and Davenport.

FLOODS ARE WORSE DISPATCHES SAY

DISCOURAGING REPORTS FROM LOUISIANA.

Estimates Recently Made Are That Eight Thousand People Will Be in Need of Relief During the Next Thirty Days—Still Working on the Levees at Omaha.

Vicksburg, Miss., April 19.—The situation in Madison Parish, La., is growing hourly worse. The flood of water going through the Briggs crevasse is fast covering the lowlands and is flooding Bay Vidal and the greater part of the land in the southern portion of the parish. The water has reached Tallulah, eighteen miles west of Delta. The water had risen seven feet in the bayou at Tallulah. Delta is about depopulated, only enough persons remaining to look after the houses. Many of them are in two or three feet of water. The back water is first covering lands north of the Delta and at Young's Point much land is already covered. At Omega the floods are coming fast. Relief boats are running to Davis Island and Kellogg's section. Planters in Ential and north part of Madison are placing their stock in reach of boats on the Vicksburg & Shreveport railroad, so they may be moved in the event of another break in the upper part of the parish, which is now severely threatened. Milliken's bend and Duckport levees are both caving.

It is now estimated that not less than 8,000 persons will want relief in this county for the next thirty days at least. Lieut. Crowley reached here from Washington by the noon train, having been detailed to duty here to purchase and distribute relief. He will purchase meal, meat and molasses for distribution.

John M. Coulton, one of the leading planters of Issaquena county, said: "I have just returned from Issaquena county. The present indications are that the overflow will break all former records as to duration and destruction of property in the line of plantation improvements and loss of cattle, leaving little prospect of planting a crop in 1897."

HAVE MANY VISITORS.

High Water Around Omaha Attacts Curiosity Seekers.

Omaha, Neb., April 19.—Fifty thousand people, at a low estimate, visited the scene of the high water around Omaha Sunday and looked over the flooded districts. Eastern Nebraska and western Iowa furnished many thousand sightseers, and all railroads run heavy excursions.

The river is not likely now to resume its old channel at the foot of the bluffs on the Nebraska side, as many have feared. It receded three inches Sunday, but work on the levees has not stopped. No lives have been lost in the locality thus far. Several thousand dollars worth of live stock has perished, however. The total loss is estimated at from $100,000 to $500,000. The foundations of many of the big buildings and perhaps of one of the bridges are permanently impaired. A large number of men have been given employment by the flood. About 500 have been working on the levees and as watchmen for corporations.

At present about 300 acres are under water which under normal conditions are inhabited.

Burlington Road Under Water.

Burlington, Iowa, April 19.—The river at Burlington is now eight miles wide and extends over the lowlands at Gladstone, Ill., twelve miles from Burlington. The roadbed of the Burlington system has the appearance of a dike, running for miles through a lake which extends to the Illinois bluffs in the distance. The river is now 12.5 feet above normal.

Watching for Gen. Sanguilly.

Wilmington, Del., April 19.—The discovery has been made that two Spanish spies have been here for several days, and are now watching southbound trains on the Baltimore & Ohio and Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroads. The men are keeping a sharp lookout for General Julio Sanguilly, whom they expect to come through this city en route from New York to Florida to take out another filibustering expedition.

True Bill for Dr. Hunter.

Frankfort, Ky., April 19.—The Franklin county grand jury Saturday returned true bills against Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, the republican nominee for the United State senate; ex-Congressman John Henry Wilson of the 11th district; E. T. Franks, of the 2d district; Captain Noel Gaines and his brother-in-law, Thomas Tanner of Frankfort. These named have been indicted for conspiracy to bribe. All are republicans with the exception of Gaines and Tanner.

Calls on Powers to Interfere.

Paris, April 19.—The Temps calls upon the powers to intervene by force of arms to stop Turkey and Greece from further fighting.

Heavy Arrival of Immigrants.

New York, April 19.—Two thousand and eighty immigrants arrived at Ellis island Sunday.

MAY NAME COURCEI AS THE ARBITRATOR

FRENCHMAN IS TALKED OF AS A COMMISSIONER.

There is a Probability That The Baron Will Be Named to Take Part in the Decision of the Venezuelan Boundary Dispute—The Court to Meet in Paris in 1898.

Washington, April 19.—The name of Baron Courcel, the eminent French jurist and diplomat, at present French ambassador to Great Britain, probably will be suggested as the fifth or final arbitrator on the court of arbitration between Venezuela and Great Britain. The treaty of arbitration recently ratified by these two governments provides that the fifth arbitrator shall be chosen by the four designated to represent the two countries, and in the event of their inability to agree on a fifth, then King Oscar of Norway and Sweden is to name the final arbitrator There appears to be little doubt, however, that the four arbitrators will reach an agreement, and with this end in view semi-official inquiries have been made as to the availibility of Baron Courcel. His choice would add another notable name to a court which promises to be memorable for the personnel of its members, who, thus far, are Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer in behalf of Venezuela, and Baron Herschel and Sir Richard Henn Collins in behalf of Great Britain.

The court will meet in Paris in the summer of 1898, the preceding time being required for the exchange of pleadings. In the meantime and within three months of the exchange of ratifications the final arbitrator must be chosen. As the treaty is ratified by both governments the formal exchange of ratifications will follow at an early day, either in Washington or in London, and negotiations toward naming the fifth arbitrator will immediately follow, in order that an agreement may be reached within the three months prescribed by the treaty.

CONDITION OF WORLD'S TRADE.

Review of the Commercial Relations of the United States.

Washington, April 19.—The bureau of statistics of the state department has just received from the printer the annual "Review of the World's Commerce," a volume introductory to the commercial relations of the United States with foreign countries. An interesting feature of the publication is an introduction by Frederick Emory, chief of the bureau of statistics of the state department, summarizing certain of the more important sections of the volume.

Mr. Emory says the figures he gives establish the significant fact that the foreign trade of the United States last year showed a steady increase in the export of manufactured goods, the percentage of such exports rising from 24.93 per cent in 1895 to 25.71 last year. Meanwhile the percentages of agricultural exports declined slightly, from 67.58 to 67.38. Mr. Emory finds additional confirmation of the relatively rapid advance of the foreign trade of the United States in some figures presented to the British parliament by the British board of trade, showing that while Great Britain still retains her lead over other countries in exports of manufactures, the United States is advancing at a more rapid pace than the mother country, and that that advance was larger in amount and much larger in proportion than the advance made by Germany.

AN ALLEGED MURDERER HELD.

Two Men Arrested, Charged With Killing an Old Miser at Wymore, Neb.

Grand Island, Neb., April 19.—Sheriff Lind Neilson of Gage county left Sunday for Beatrice with two men arrested here, accused of the murder of David Jones at Wymore. The old miser had $10,000 in gold concealed in his house, and died rather than reveal its location. Neilson inspected the men and believed they quite minutely answered the descriptions of the criminals wanted at Wymore. When Sheriff Neilson assured them that there would be plenty of men at the latter place who could identify them they are said to have admitted that they had been in that city. Neilson expressed the fear that if the men were positively identified as the murderers it might be difficult to prevent a lynching. The murder of David Jones was committed on March 27. Jones was burned about the feet and breast and frightfully tortured, dying from the injuries. A reward of $700 has been offered for the arrest of the murderers.

Tragedy at Jacksonville, Ill.

Jacksonville, Ill., April 19.—Another horrible tragedy took place in this city early Saturday. A number of young men, some of them belonging to very respectable families, were on a lark. Toward morning they went to the rear of Jameson's saloon, where the proprietor, with three friends, was playing cards, and demanded admittance. Jameson opened the iron shutter, when the boys broke in the door and at once attacked the men inside. A general row ensued, and to protect himself Jameson fired his revolver, dropping John Konrad instantly, with a bullet through the head. Several others were dangerously hurt.

IT INVOLVES GOV. TANNER.

University Board to Be Sued—Important Questions Raised.

Chicago, April 19.—Gov. John R. Tanner and the members of the board of trustees of the University of Illinois will be cited to appear before Judge Tuley as parties defendant in the Globe savings bank case. The bill will charge that the auditor and trustees were negligent, but that they knew of the insolvency of the Globe savings bank for a long time before its failure and made no effort to close it. It will also allege that the trustees knew that Spalding had hypothecated the bonds, securities, and that they had entered into an agreement with Spalding whereby he was given the use of the funds and securities of the university, and agreed to pay 2½ per cent interest on the general fund and 4 per cent interest on the endowment fund.

The bill will aver that Spalding under the agreement was to pay this rate whether he received it or not, and that Spalding has from time to time drawn money from the Globe savings bank and placed it to his credit as treasurer of the university and as an individual, and that he has set apart notes, bonds, mortgages and stocks held by him individually under the contract with the trustees to secure money drawn from the bank. The bill will say that Spalding was practically the business agent instead of treasurer, and that under the terms of the contract he did not wrongfully hypothecate the bonds, but that he did what the trustees authorized him to do, and hence they have no right to the securities now held by the bank or its receiver.

Another question will be raised by the bill, which will affect the university materially. It says that the trustees have but two courses. The first is to proceed against the bondsmen of Charles W. Spalding for the funds which were intrusted to his keeping as treasurer, and the second, if there is a deficiency, to call upon the state to make good the endowment fund which it guaranteed to the general government when it accepted the land grant.

The claim will also be made that through the negligence of the state officials the depositors would have the right to bring suit and recover from the state of Illinois, were the latter not a sovereign power.

Gen. Rivera Rapidly Recovering.

Havana, April 19.—The correspondent of the Associated Press went to Cabanas Fortress Sunday and saw Gen. Ruis Rivera and Col. Bacellao. He found Rivera in a large, dry, and well-ventilated cell. At the moment of the visit the general was lying down, but he had been able to leave his bed the day before. His wounds are healing rapidly, and he is hoping to be pardoned as a special favor of the crown. Col. Bacallao is similarly situated, and the two officers have a servant who attends them. They have comfortable beds and good meals sent in daily from a restaurant near by.

Defective Bond No Protection.

Lansing, Mich., April 19.—Under a ruling made by the supreme court the approval by the common council of a defective bond is no protection to a person who sells liquor, and even though he acts in the utmost good faith he is liable to criminal prosecution if, after selling, his bond proves to be defective in any particular. The court says the intention of the legislature was to put the burden of filing a perfect bond on the dealer and not on the approving board.

Powers Connive with Turkey.

Vienna, April 19.—Turkey has acted with the connivance of the powers, especially Germany, who stigmatized the Greek raids as insupportable provocations and casus belli. Consequently Greece will be looked upon as the aggressor. Military experts here believe that Greece will be defeated on land, but victorious at sea. Nevertheless, no matter how disastrously the war may end for Greece, she will lose nothing.

Grand Crossing's Big Fire.

Chicago, April 19.—Fire destroyed the works of the Grand Crossing Tack Company yesterday afternoon. The Nine-Mile roadhouse, across the street from the factory, at Seventy-ninth street and Stony Island avenue, and an adjoining dwelling were also consumed. A fire loss aggregating about $200,000 was sustained and a long list of personal injuries resulted.

America to Protect Greeks.

Constantinople, April 19.—America will probably take over the protection of Greece subjects in Turkey during the war. The Turkish government has invited all Greek consuls and subjects to quit the confines of the empire within fifteen days.

Rivera Hopes for Pardon.

Havana, April 19.—The correspondent of the Associated Press went to Cabanas fortress Sunday and saw Gen. Ruiz Riveria and Col. Bacallao. Rivera's wounds are healing rapidly, and he is hoping to be pardoned as a special favor of the crown. Col. Bacallao is hopeful of a special pardon.

Dauntless Allowed to Proceed.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 19.—The steamer Dauntless, which was released by order of the United States Court Saturday, started down the river this morning and was halted by the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius.

BOARD DID NOT END TWO RIVERS STRIKE

STATE ARBITRATORS LABORED IN VAIN.

Company Ordered the Men to Go Back to Work and Arbitrate Late, But The Employes Refused—Hot Fire at Coloma Does $6,000 Damage—State Specials.

Two Rivers, Wis., April 19—[Special]—The strike among the woodenware factory's workmen is still unsettled. The State Board of Arbitrations' attempts to adjust the difficulties failed, and the visit of the commissioners was all for nothing. The company asked the men to go back to work this morning and settle the differences later, but the employes refused to do so.

Hot Fire at Coloma

Coloma, Wis., April 19—[Special]—Fire destroyed H. J. Hawkins' store and residence in this village, with part of its contents. It was the largest building in the village. The property burned was valued at $6,000 with $4,000 insurance. The fire also communicated to Rev. V. H. Helms' barn, which was also burned.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

Green Bay, Wis., April 19.—The next convention of the Christian Endeavor societies of this district will be held at Clintonville. The following program of papers was given Sunday afternoon: "What Ails Our Society?" A. G. Leffingwell of Appleton; "Personal Work," Mrs. J. W. Savage of DePeve, and "Flower Missions," by Miss Susa Blackwood of New London. A junior hour was conducted by Mrs. J. L. Countermine of Marinette.

SPANISH MURDER PACIFICOS.

Cuban Camp Surprised at Night and the Inmates Slaughtered.

New York, April 19.—A special to the World from Havana, Cuba, by way of Jacksonville, Fla., says:

"A camp of pacificos near Manges, Pinar del Rio, has been raided and more than forty persons slain. The camp sheltered refugees from San Christobal and neighboring places driven from there by the impossibility of getting food. They had begun cultivating crops for their own use.

"Col. San Martin heard of it from a spy and sent Capt. Sarda with twenty men to break up the camp.

"The camp was surprised at night, the men were tied to trees, their huts burned, and their crops were destroyed. The men were kept tied up a day without food and water, while the guerillas caroused and maltreated the women captives. Then both men and women were shot.

"Five hundred Cubans ambushed three battalions of Spanish troops on the Artemisa military road and killed nearly 200. The Cuban loss was 94."

BASE BALL SEASON BEGINS.

First Game of the Season Played To-day.

Chicago, April 19.—The first National league game will be played to-day in Boston between Boston and Philadelphia. On Thursday the general opening day, the following games will be played: Boston at Baltimore, Brooklyn at Philadelphia, Pittsburg at St. Louis, Cleveland at Louisville, Chicago at Cincinnati. The season of the Western league will open Wednesday, Grand Rapids at Indianapolis, although the other teams do not play until the following day. The Western association season will not begin until April 29.

Japan Is Withdrawing Bullion.

London, April 19.—Large withdrawals of bullion from the Bank of England, most of which go to Japan, have served to harden the money rates considerably during the last few days. Business on the stock exchange has been small, though the prices for foreign securities have been fairly well maintained. A feeling of general anxiety exists through all financial circles here. Americans generally are weak, though without special reason. Except in the case of the first-class securities like Illinois Central, Pennsylvania and Lake Shore the declines for the week range from ¾ to 1¼.

To Choose Gowdy's Successor.

Indianapolis, April 19.—The republican state central committee will meet here Tuesday to select a successor to Chairman John K. Gowdy, who will leave on the same day for New York, whence he will sail for Paris to assume his duties as consul general. The race for the chairmanship is between Geo. W. Self, state senator from Harrison County, and Geo. McCullough, member of the committee from Delaware. Mr. Gowdy denies that he is taking any active interest in the fight.

Congressman Milliken Is Dead.

Washington, April 19.—Seth L. Milliken, representing in the House of Representatives the third district of Maine, died Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock.

Big Engine for Mexico.

Lockport, N. Y., April 19.—Senor Victor M. Brascini, a prominent Mexican, is in town and has closed a contract for a 19,000,000 gallon pumping engine for the city of Mexico.

AN EASTER SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

ELABORATE EXERCISES AT SOME OF THE SANCTUARIES.

Rev. Robert C Denison Speaks of "The Risen Life" at the Congregational Church, and a Program Was Presented—The Services Held in the Other Churches.

At the Congregational church the pastor spoke on the risen life. We ordinarly think of the resurrection as applying only to the raising of life after death. The new testament idea of the risen life is that of a moral condition towards which we must begin to rise now. Some conditions of character are as bad as death and are as much in need of a resurrection. To merely rise after death would mean little without a previous uplift of character. We imagine in glowing colors the resurrection at the last great day but just in our sight today there may be a man who is saying I am going to lift up my life nearer to God and that is as sublime a resurrection as we shall ever see.

We will think next of what that risen life is towards which we are to lift our characters. It cannot die any more. The things which are beneath us, have no power over us. Slavery has no further power over our national life, for we have risen above it. Those who live that risen life, are equal to the angels. When a man has raised his character, he is worthy of the noblest companionships, and they are open to him. Those who live the risen life shall be sons of God. They will be pure and true, not because they are commanded, but because they love their Father. Some goodness if compelled by law or custom, but the righteousness of those who have attained the risen life is to be as natural and spontaneous as the love of a son for his father. Now, we can do nothing with death. Our strongest efforts cannot push him back a day, but we can manage life: we hold it in our hands. If we will lift up life into faith, hope and love, God will take care of death.

In the evening the Easter Sunday school programme was rendered before a congregation that filled every corner of the church. The choruses, solos, recitations and anthems all helped to make a beautiful and inspiring scene. The joy of it could not but commend the christian life and truth to all who likened.

An elaborate program, which has been published before—was prescuted, and the music was rendered by a choir of sixty voices.

At the Baptist Church

"The Power of Christ's Resurrection" was the subject of Rev. Dr. Hodge's morning sermon: The power, he held, was a power able to overcome the mightiness of death. All men must die. Men were fearful of death. He who could overcome death was a mighty conqueror. There were two ways that he might deliver men from death. First, by keeping men out of its power. Second, by taking men out of it after they were in prison. Christ broke the force of death, and by so doing he not only saved the head of his mystical body, but all of its members. He saves His people from death also.

Christ's power in the resurrection places His church upon a sure foundation. Paul was willing to stake his all upon the truth that Christ arose from the dead. He was sure of that fact. There could be no mistake about it.

There was power to uplift a discouraged and sorrowful church.

How changed the disciples were after that morning! What wonderful power to change such a discouraged and dispairing people!

There is power in Christ's resurrection to cheer pilgrims upon their christian journey. They are led to look forward to the time when they shall see Jesus.

There is power in the resurrection to produce a dreaded apprehension of sin.

The enemies of Christ thought they had got rid of Him by killing Him. What was their feeling when He arose again?

There is power to produce conviction of sin. Are you afraid to meet Him, or are you because of your faith in Him, anxiously awaiting the time when you shall meet Him?

In the evening the Y. P. S. C. E had a special Easter service, consisting of songs, recitations and readings. The meeting was led by Miss Elizabeth Palmer. It was a very interesting session.

On account of a throat trouble Dr. Hodge held no evening service.

At All Souls Church.

In his talk on "My Life Creed" last evening Rev. Southworth formulated the second article of his creed as follows:

"I believe in the divine capabilities of human nature as revealed in the life and character of Jesus." Among other things he said:

"I believe that if we had such complete confidence in the divinity of our own nature, as Jesus had in his divinity; if we could trust our living impulses as he trusted his, if we could regard our conscience as God's voice, as he did we would not make such wretched work with our lives. We lack that perfect simplicity and openness of mind and heart. We lack that loyalty to our deep convictions. Above all we lack the spirit of love. And so this man of Nazareth seems a veritable God, he stands so high compared to us.

"I do not wonder that men have misunderstood him. It is because they did not understand what they themselves are capable of.

"Why, the church has been teaching for centuries the awful doctrine of human depravity—calling man the child of the devil. Teaching this in the name of Jesus!

"They could not had they tried found any idea so remote from the mind of Christ. It is the very opposite of what Jesus had in mind. And so it has made man distrustful of his own nature. Afraid to follow faithfully the voice of reason and conscience. Man has so long been taught that human nature is lost and ruined that he has become hopeless with regard to his higher moral capabilities.

"He has come to feel that it is no use trying.

"Why, do you know, this is the worst kind of infidelity—to lose faith in yourself?

"For my part I believe as Jesus believed that all men are children of the one Infinite Spirit, the Universal Father; partakers of one nature, equally capable of goodness and truth.

"There was no grandeur or glory in the life of Jesus to which every human soul is not eligable. The same spirit of earnest love will transform any life and make it Godlike.

In thyself have faith, O man,
Finding thy God within;
Thou art one with nature's plan,
And not a child of sin.

Let thy conscience be thy God,
And swift its voice obey;
It will guide the on the road
That leads to perfect day.

Dim not the light of reason
By any coward thought;
To doubt thp soul is treason,
'Twill bring thy life to naught.

There's no truth too high for thee,
No virtue too sublime;
Assert thy own divinity,
The best will come in time.

At the Court Street M. E. Church.

Plants and blossoms furnished by the Epworth League, contributed to the Easter service at Court Street M. E church yesterday, and an elaborate song service rendered by Miss Abbott, Miss Beckwith, Mr. Garbut and Mr. Taylor, was in keeping with the day. Presiding Elder F. A. Pease spoke in the morning from the text in St. John's gospel, "In Him was life, and the life was the light of men." The speaker said that Jesus Christ was the origin of the best life, and His character was an incentive to physical, mental and moral development. The highest type of life, and the one most neglected, is the spiritual. Life is a failure, unless life eternal is the goal. What the world needs today is a more simple faith in God. The pathway of unbelief is a dark and cloudy one, the home of atheism, where God is shut out and only dispair can result. Modern atheism at the open tomb is helpless and looks in vain for a ray of hope.

The ledge of nature and of science, overlooking the abyss of unbelief, may furnish transient relief, but the wings of faith are necessary to carry the soul out and up into a pure and healthful atmosphere. If we would be like Jesus we must study His character. It is possible for us to be "in the world but not of it." Holiness is attainable in this life. "Be ye Perfect" is the command of the Savior.

Immortality, life after death, are the lessons of this Easter day. "In My Father's House are Many Mansions" "I am the Resurrection and the Life." "Oh Death, Where is thy Sting? Oh Grave, Where is thy Victory?"

In Him was life, may we have part in the first resurrection.

In the evening the Epworth League had charge of the service.

COLLEGE BOYS SING AT MYERS GRAND

UNIVERSITY CLUBS WILL BE HERE TONIGHT.

Janesville is the First Town Made in Their Annual Tour—Organizations Are Unusually Strong This Year—George Brownell One of the Members.

The University Glee and Banjo clubs will give the opening performance of their annual tour at the Myers' Grand tonight. On Tuesday they go to Oshkosh; Wednesday, Fond du Lac; Thursday, Ripon; Friday, Berlin; Saturday, Milwaukee.

Thirty-three students will compose the two clubs, one numbering fifteen and the other eighteen members. The Glee club is without doubt the best one the university has ever produced, and the Banjo club equals any of former years and is thaught by many far to exceed them.

The overture of the latter club is particularly excellent, both in the composition and rendering. Nearly all the music of the Banjo club has been arranged for them by Miss Annie Lyon, instructor in the University School of Music. Both clubs start out very confident of making a successful tour, though up to within three weeks the outlook was not so bright.

Since that time both clubs have been increased by additional members, which has had the effect of stimulating the old ones. The Glee club during the past week has been under the special training of Professors Parker and Sleeper of the University School of Music, and yesterday afternoon the finishing touches were given them by the head of this department.

The Male Quartette.

He has confidence in the ability of the men and especially the male quartette, which is a new feature for Wisconsin Glee clubs. This quartette is composed of C. T. Wentworth of Madison, first tenor; C. A. Boughton of Stoughton, second tenor; A. Hedler of Milwaukee, first bass and F. H Clausen of Fox Lake, second bass. The four voices blend well and the quartette has never failed of repeated encores from some of the most critical of Madison audiences. Mr. Wentworth the first tenor, was a member of the Harvard Glee club during his connection with that institution.

Besides the quartette there will also appear on the program Ernest G. Ehlman of Milwaukee, violinist, and Earl C. May of Rochelle, Ill., cornetist. Mr. Ehlman is an exceptionally fine performer. Alrhough he is able to render the most difficult of classical music, he does not confine himself to this style alone. Earl C. May, solo cornetist and leader of the University band is a player of ability.

Personnel of the Club.

The members of the Glee club are:

First Tenors—C. T. Wentworth, Madison; J. H. Knowles, Berlin; A. S. Gillett, Madison; H. L. Elston, Muscoda.

Second Tenors—C. A. Boughton, (leader) Stoughton; J. S. Main, Madison; C. E. Seiler, Alma; A. P. Hollis, Wellington.

Baritone—A. Hedler, (manager) Milwaukee; R. H. Chamberlain, Darlington; H. O. Seymour, Lake Geneva.

Second Bass—F. H. Clausen, Fox Lake; E. H. Pahlow, Milwaukee; D. J. Davis, Madison; C. B. Ackley, Oconomowoc.

Among the selections of the club are "Schonezit," "Negro Medley," "Mother Goose Song" "Good Night Beloved," and "Jolly Fat Friar." The songs chosen are of divers kinds, yet most of them tend to the rollicking happy college order. Some of the songs are original with the students.

Fred Hartwell of La Crosse, will sing one written and composed by himself. The Banjo club will also play the air "Captain of Co. B," the verses accompanying the piece being of a local version entitled "Our Wisconsin." A. H. Hager of the Banjo club is the composer.

The banjo club is as follows:

Banjorines—E. R. MacDonald (manager), Madison; M. W Griffiths, Milwaukee; E. K. Barnes, Madison; R. E. Fowler, Wauwatosa.

First banjo—W. M. Fowler, Madison.

Second banjo—Frank Carney, Eau Claire; G. H. Brownell, Janesville.

Banjola—A. R. Hager, Sterling, Ill.

Piccolo banjo—C. M. Fox, LaGrange, Illinois.

Base banjo—C. A. Sidler, Milwaukee.

Guitar—E. A. O'Neill, Neillsville; C. A. Fortier, Florence; T. R. Cook, Oshkosh; G. N. Terris, Whitewater.

There has been published a souvenir program of elaborate design.

Reception For the Club.

As in former years, the clubs will be treated with receptions while on the tour. Already there are parties and receptions arranged to take place after the performance in both Janesville and Oshkosh. Parties at Fond du Lac and Berlin are at present in process of arrangement. Besides this trip of a week's duration Friday and Saturday night runs will be made to Eau Claire, Baraboo, La Crosse, Winona, Kenosha and Lake Forest during the spring. This tour coming as it does, the first week after Lent, promises well for the clubs, as the music loving people will be anxious to partake of their worldly pleasures again. It is, however, the intention of the management never again to make the tour so late in the season. In the future the leaders will be chosen during the summer vacation, and during that time the various pieces will be selected. Then, upon the opening of the college year, work may begin immediately and everything ready for a presentation to the public at Christmas, at which time the annual tour will be made.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM M'EWAN

One of the Pioneers of the County Laid to Rest Yestesday.

Milton, Wis., April 19—The funeral of William McEwan, one of the oldest settlers in Rock county, who came to this village from Scotland in 1838, took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist church, of which deceased was an active member, and was largely attended by the old time friends of the deceased. The Rev. W. T. Millar officiated, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Carpenter. Among the relatives from out of town present were: Professor H. E Curtis and family of Waupun, and Mrs. Everett A. Smith and William Home of Milwaukee,

CONDITION OF WINTER CROPS.

Spring Work Cannot be Begun Inside of Ten Days.

Milton, Wis., April 19—Farmers report that winter grain is in fair condition, rye being in nice shape, but some pieces of winter wheat have been damaged quite seriously. New seeding has "winter killed" to some extent, but the old pastures are all right. The continued wet, cold weather prevents plowing and at the best, spring work cannot begin here for ten days.

THE TELEPHONE CONCERT

Fifteen Hundred Janesville People Heard the Milwaukee Orchestras

The "telephone concert" given by the Wisconsin Telephone company at the Hotel Myers Saturday night was a very enjoyable affair, and fully fifteen hundred people heard the music of Clauder's and Bach's orchestras, which were playing in Milwaukee. The entertainment was a novel one, and the kindness of the telephone company in providing it, was fully appreciated.

THIRTY years is a long time to fight so painful a trouble as piles, but Jacob Mitchell, of Unionville, Pa., struggled that long before he tried De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, which quickly and permanently cured him. It is equally effective in eczema and all skin affections. C. D. Stevens.

APPLEBY USED HIS REVOLVER

Janesville Officer Fires Shots at a Beloit Lawbreaker.

John Sullivan was sent up from Beloit Saturday, to serve thirty days in the Janesville jail for carrying concealed weapons Sullivan was arrested by Officer W. H. Appleby at Beloit, Friday night. Officer Appleby went to Beloit in search of some crooks, and in company with his brother, George, the chief of police at Beloit, made the rounds of the city. About 11 o'clock they saw two men skulking along the railroad yards and ordered them to halt. Instead of doing so, the men ran towards town, probably thinking Illinois officers were after them. The Messrs. Appleby separated and the Janesville officer followed one man who ran cross lots and jumped over a fence. At this point Officer Appleby fired two shots from his revolver at the fugitive and got on the far side of the fence about as quickly at the other fellow. Here he compelled him to hold his hands up and he was soon lodged in jail. On searching him it was found that he had a 44 calibre revolver in his pocket. He proved to be John Sullivan who was shot a few years ago trying to release a prisoner from the Rockton lockup The officers had no charge against him excepting carrying concealed weapons. To this charge hepleaded guilty and was sent to jail for 30 days.

Wrecked and Racked

By the pangs of rheumatism, the joints eventually become grievously distorted, and sometimes assume an almost grotesque deformity. To prevent such results by a simple and agreeable means is certainly the part of wisdom. A tendency to rheumatic ailments may be successfully combatted with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine with the prestige of a long and successful career, of unbounded popularity, and of emphatic professional endorsement. It removes from the blood those inflammatory impurities which pathologists assign as the cause of rheumatism, and not only purifies the life current, but enriches it promoting vigor by fertilizing its source. Digestion, the action of the bowels and the secretion of the bile, are aided by it, and it impels the kidneys and bladder to a regular and active performance of their functions. It is besides a thoroughly reliable remedy for, and means of preventing, periodic fevers.

FACTS WITH POINTS.

Every One of These Statements Absolutely True.

Mr. A. W. Sharper, 61 Prospect St., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "Gratitude prompts me to write that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets completely cured me of Nervous Dyspepsia from which I had suffered for the last four years. I had tried many remedies without results, but am now cured and have gained in flesh, sleep well and have none but words of praise for Stuart's Tablets."

Mrs. Sarah A. Skeels, Lynnville, Iowa: "It has been six months since I took Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and am fully cured. Have not had a particle of distress or difficulty since. This is in the face of the fact that I had suffered from stomach trouble for twenty-five years and was pronounced incurable by the doctors."

James Newmestes, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Two 50 cent packages of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets did me more good than any remedy I had ever before tried. They hit the spot with me and I once more have an appetite and can eat what I please without fear of distress and bloating afterward."

Dr. Harlandson relates the case of Miss Helen Sholes, of Nashville, who was cured of dyspepsia and gained 18 pounds in weight after suffering from stomach trouble for eight years. The doctor uses them in all stomach troubles because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain pure pepsin, Diastase, fruit acids and valuable digestives, which digest the food whether the stomach works or not, gives it the needed rest and a cure is the natural result.

Dr. Jennison says nine-tenths of disease is caused by indigestion and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest and best cure, because they are not a secret patent medicine, but contain the valuable digestive principles needed by every weak stomach and a whole box would not hurt a child, being absolutely harmless.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents per package.

Send to Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on symptoms and treatment of stomach troubles.

FAILURE IN BUSINESS.

Little Habits Gnaw Big Holes.

A large number of men are unsuccessful in their business because of some small habit or habits that rob them of the vitality necessary to push a business as it should be.

The man who is thoroughly well, and can plan with a clear brain, and work out his plans with a healthy body, is the one who will be in the procession when his neighbor has to drop out.

Some men can stand hurtful habits better than others, but when one finds out that he is ailing a little each day, let him remedy the trouble and have the machine work right, for that is the sure road to riches and happiness.

Dr. J. R. Pennington, Chicago Summer School of Medicine, 103 State St., Chicago, says: "The Postum is received, brewed and used up. I like it very much. The only criticism I have to offer is that it did not last long enough."

Coffee interferes with the digestion of many people who find it hard to give it up, although they know it hurts them. It is easy to do without coffee if one can have Postum, the Food Coffee. This has the deep seal-brown color of Java, and changes to the golden brown of thick Mocha when cream is added. It is made of the pure grains, wheat, etc., and is nourishing and fattening, and is true health coffee. It can be drank at every meal without any of the lil effects of coffee. Made by the Postum Cereal Co., Limited, Battle Creek, Mich.

There is but one genuine original Postum Cereal Food Coffee, with a multitude of imitations offered as "just as good."

One Goes Down Hill

Much faster than is possible to get up again! Some never get up at all.

This is particularly true of people afflicted with kidney disease and rheumatic persons whose blood is full of uric acid.

They try to get up but don't know how.

They go at it the wrong way.

The right way is to heal your kidneys and make them strong, so that they will filter out of the blood all impurities—uric acid being the worst of all blood poisons.

To heal and strengthen your kidneys take.

Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills

Thousands have testified after using these live-giving pills their kidneys were sick but now they are well.

They are at the top of the hill again.

Relief as a Lady of Sixty-five Years After Undergoing Agonizing Pains of Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism.

Appleton, Was., Jan. 15th. 1897.

For ten years I had been a constant sufferer from pains in both sides above the hips and toward the spine in the region of the kidneys, usually extending forward and downward, and a frequent desire to urinate with usually a hot scanty discharge. I had doctored long and faithfully and taken patent medicines in quantities, but all to no purpose. I was suffering from Inflammation of the Kindeys (Nephritis) and now add to this the agony of Rheumatism, (so bad that I could not close my hands) and you can readily imagine what untold agonies I have suffered for a woman of sixty-five. Not long since, I was induced to try your Sparagus Kidney Pills with most satisfactory results. I write this hoping that other sufferers will go and do likewise. Many thanks for the great good your Pills have done me.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

BYRON.

1560—Philipp Melanchthon, coadjutor of Luther, died; born 1497.
1721—Roger Sherman, "signer" for Connecticut, born at Newtown, Mass.; died 1793 in New Haven.
1775—Beginning of American Revolution; battles at Lexington and Concord.
1813—Benjamin Rush, "signer" for Pennsylvania, died in Philadelphia; born 1745.
1824—Lord Byron died at Missolonghi, Greece; born in London 1788. Byron's death was due to exposure during the siege of Lepanto.
1861—Massachusetts troops attacked in Baltimore; Luther C. Ladd and Addison O. Whitney killed, usually considered the first victims of the civil war.
1881—Benjamin Disraeli, earl of Beaconsfield, prime minister of England, died in London; born 1805.
1896—Judge Arthur J. Borman, the first governor of West Virginia, died at Parkersburg.

A PRACTICAL REFORM.

A practical sort of civil service reform is being practiced in the interior department by the reinstatement of the old soldiers who were turned out during the last administration to reward the party services of democratic workers. The excuse was that the veterans are incompetent, but Assistant Secretary Ryan says it is a base falsehood and that the incapacity of the new men cripples the department. "I do not propose," he adds, "to be hammered by them, and shall reinstate just as rapidly as I can reduce or discharge incompetent democrats." This is sound civil service reform talk and in harmony with a straightforward administration of the civil service regulations.

GOLD WILL GO OUT.

The probability is that gold exportation soon will begin. The immense merchandise balance in our favor is diminishing, necessarily through the recent increase in imports of goods. This is likely to continue until the Dingley act goes into operation, for importers believe the senate will knock out the retroactive clause of the bill. However, the country is this moment in a better position to stand a heavy exportation of gold than it has been in many years. The banks hold more gold than they have had since shortly before the convulsion of 1893 began, while the treasury gold reserve is higher than it has been since 1890.

NO NEED OF IT.

Wisconsin has had trouble enough over laws passed when no occasion existed. The parochial school law was one example of a measure right enough in spirit but accomplishing no good, and pleasing nobody save the amiable theorists who proposed it. The corrupt practice bill is another. Nobody charges that Wisconsin politics is corrupt. As a matter of fact, the state can give lessons in political cleanliness to almost any of the other commonwealths. There is no call for a corrupt practice bill. Until there is, the legislature will be justified in keeping the statute books clear.

Light is being thrown on the shape that "civil service reform" took during the Cleveland administration. The quiet substitution of democrats for republicans that went forward during Mr. Cleveland's entire term will now be thoroughly ventilated.

When so much protest was aroused by Armenian massacres it hardly was expected that the outcome would be the shelling of Christians by Christian fleets.

Note From Dr. Horne.

Editor Gazette—I have seemingly been ignored in the petition against a saloon on South Main street. True it is that I drink whiskey but I take it with a great deal of allowance and do not understand why I was the only man in the ward who was not asked to sign. I am as much opposed to a saloon on South Main street as any body. DR. WM. HORNE.

MUCH DAMAGE DONE BY THE HIGH WIND

YESTERDAY'S GALE PLAYED MANY PRANKS.

Part of the Sheet Iron Roof was Torn Off the Woolen Mill, While the State School Roof Suffered, too—Many Trees Were Uprooted by the Gale.

The high wind yesterday did extensive damage and the "Easter bonnet" was not the only sufferer. Small buildings and trees in all parts of the city were blown down while the church goers were covered with dust. At the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets a large pane of glass blew from one of the windows on the third floor of the Lappin block. Two Chicago traveling men narrowly escaped serious injury as the glass was broken at their feet in a thousand pieces.

At the State School for the Blind a portion of the new tin roof was loosened and blown to the ground.

The Wisconsin Telephone company experienced much trouble. Wires in all sections of the city were crossed so that communication was cut off and Lineman Charles Bigley and men were kept busy throughout the day.

Two empty box cars in the railroad yards were moved at a good rate of speed, but were brought to a stand still before any damage resulted.

At the lower woolen mill one-half of the iron roof was lifted high in the air, and a large portion of it was blown into the river.

The railroad gates at the Wall street crossing were broken and blown against Soverhill & Porter's tobacco warehouse.

In the outskirts of the town the damage was extensive. Small outbuildings and trees suffered the most, and the total damage will foot into many dollars.

morning, and the other services were held as usual.

St. Patrick's Church.

Smith's orchestra assisted in the musical service at St. Patrick's church, and a cornet and trombone duet, "Consolation," by Herve, by Al Knieff and Joe Mahaney was rendered.

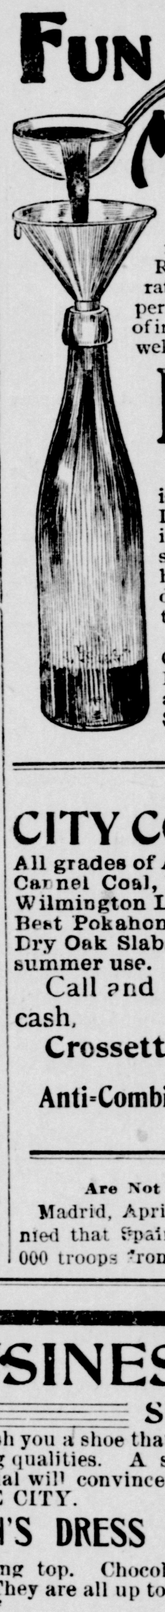

At Christ Church.

Easter celebration at Christ Church yesterday was grand, indeed. The attendance at all the services was large, and an unusual number received the Blessed Sacrament of the Lord's supper. The 10:30 a. m. service was truly a service of praise and thanksgiving. The singing of the choir was remarkably fine, reflecting much credit upon the soloist and director. Such a high class of music cannot be given with such fine effect, without much hard work being done beforehand. While all parts were well taken an especially leading feature was the ladies' quartette in the Te Deum. The choir was ably assisted by Master Kramer Doty, who, like a regular artist, sang the offertory solo in a pleasing manner, in spite of a severe cold. The Easter festival in the evening, in which the Sunday school participated, was largely choral; the Sunday school being assisted by the choir, and Master Kramer Doty repeating his solo of the morning. At the close of this service every member of the Sunday school received a potted plant. The offerings at all the services amounted to over $880.

Col. Kellogg Is Dead.

Atlanta, Ga., April 19.—Col. W. L. Kellogg, commanding the Fifth United States infantry, died at McPherson barracks, near this city, this morning. For about a year Col. Kellogg had been in ill health and nearly two weeks ago a retiring board considered his case with a view to relieving him from active service.

PUT DEPARTMENTS UNDER NEW RULES

CIVIL SERVICE FOR FIREMEN AND POLICE OFFICERS.

Mayor Baines Will Appoint a Commission Under the New Law, and Present Their Names to the Council This Evening—The Plan of the New Departure.

Mayor Baines will probably appoint a board of fire and police commissioners—under the new law, which went into effect Saturday—today, and submit their names to the council at tonight's meeting.

The new plan will take the police and fire departments out of politics and place them in charge of a nonpartisan board of commissioners.

The board will be composed of four citizens, no more than two of whom shall be of the same political party, and no member shall receive any salary or compensation. The board that Mayor Baines will appoint, will be composed of four men, one appointed to serve for one year; one for two years; one for three years; and one for four years. Hereafter, one commissioner will be appointed each year, to serve for the term of four years, thus making the terms of the members expire at different times. In case of vacancies, the mayor shall fill the same by appointment.

Get to Work At Once.

The law provides that as soon as possible after their appointment, the board shall meet and formulate such rules and regulations for the government of the police and fire departments, as shall, in their judgment, attain the best service.

Applicants for positions shall be examined for their physical and educational qualifications for the position applied for, as well as on matter of habits, reputation, standing, etc.

All employes shall be classified, and special inquiries made for all classes of the service.

The rules adopted by the board shall be printed, that the people may become acquainted with them and the board can repeal or change them at any time.

The board has authority to name the examiners and fix their pay for the work of holding examinations and change the membership of the board at any time.

Officers Can Meet Charges

Officers now in office shall hold office for six months, regardless of the law, and at the end of six months, examinations will be held.

The board can suspend any officer at any time, but the officer shall have an opportunity to meet and refute charges made. After hearing charges and rebuttal evidence, the board shall decide the matter, and the decision shall be final.

It is declared to be the duty of the board, when it believes that an officer should be removed for the good of the service, to remove the officer, but a majority vote is necessary.

The law also provides that the members of the fire and police forces shall be not less than twenty-one years of age nor more than fifty-five.

"I will probably present the names to the common council this evening" said Mayor Baines this afternoon. "I desire to consult with Mayor-Elect Thoroughgood before I name them. In all probability I will appoint them this afternoon."

CREDITORS GIVEN JUDGMENT

Judge Bennett Passes On the VanEtta Cases Today.

In the circuit court today in the case of the First National bank of Janesville vs. George N. Van Etta, et al, the court ordered that the plaintiff have judgment for $173 09 damages, $70.31 costs; that G. G. Sutherland, trustee, pay over as receiver herein all sums he may receive as trustee belonging to George N. Van Etta in excess of $1,000 per annum allowed for support. Similar cases with Ernest Schlecting, O. G. Bennett, J. M. Bostwick and W. B. Conrad as plaintiffs the court ordered that said plaintiffs have judgment.

THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW.

Emily L. Kellogg.

Emily L. Kellogg died at her home, south of Janesville, Sunday, in her sixty-third year. She was taken sick on December 7, with pneumonia, followed by nervous prostration, from which she never recovered. She leaves a husband, two sons and two daughters, and an aged mother, besides a large circle of friends, to mourn their loss, which is her gain. The funeral will be private, at the home, Tuesday, at 2 p. m.

Henry Pool.

Henry Pool, who died at Englewood, Ill., was a half brother of F S. Winslow, Mr. Winslow left for Chicago this morning and Mrs. Winslow will leave tomorrow.

Now that Easter shopping is over ladies will naturally turn their attention to house cleaning. In this connection we wish to say that we can save them money on all grades of carpets, curtains, rugs, Schenille portiers, shades and all kinds of window draperies. T. P. Burns.

THE grandest event of the year will be the Butchers' ball, which takes place at the Armory next Thursday evening. Smith's orchestra of ten pieces will furnish the music, and Prof. Williams and wife of Whitewater, will lead the grand march. Tickets will only be seventy-five cents, and a most pleasant affair may be looked forward to.

T FINE FARM HOUSE LAID LOW BY FIRE

THE L. M. SPALDING RESIDENCE TOTALLY DESTROYED.

Spark From a Chimney Set Fire to the Roof, and the Flames Did Their Work Rapidly—Was One of the County Land Marks—Loss $6,000, Insurance $1,200.

Fire totally destroyed the L. M. Spalding residence in the town of Harmony, near "the forks creamery" yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, and removed one of Rock county's oldest landmarks. The loss will reach $6,000 with an insurance on the building of $1,300.

Sparks from the parlor chimney ignited the roof to the woodshed and the high wind did the rest. In twenty minutes from the time the fire was first discovered the entire dwelling was ablaze.

Mrs Michael Commons and her three sons work the farm and with Mrs Spalding, resided on the place.

Mrs. Commons and sons Thomas and John, attended church yesterday morning, leaving Michael and Mrs. Spalding at home. When Michael came from the stable at 11 o'clock yesterday, morning he discovered that the roof of the wood shed was on fire.

Rang the Alarm Bell.

He rushed into the house and notified Mrs Spalding of her danger. Then he seized the rope to the big dinner bell, that hung outside, an kept up a continual clanging. Neighbors soon came to the rescue, and a portion of Mrs. Spalding's household effects were saved, but the Commons family—who occupied the part of the house in which the fire started—saved only a sewing machine and a few articles.

Michael Commons was overcome by the smoke and was carried to a neighboring house where he spent the day in bed, but he is not thought to be dangerously ill.

The dwelling was built of oak timbers that would have lasted hundreds of years.

Spark Sailed 23 Feet.

It was erected by the late William Spalding about thirty-five years ago and at the time was considered a mansion of the county. Many times gayety held full sway beneath its roof in the early days, and many of the old settled will be pained to hear of its destruction.

"I was at the farm on Saturday and decided to put $700 more insurance on the house" said E. E Spalding last night. "The agent recommended that this be done and I was going to take his advice on Monday. The spark that caused the fire came from the chimney and sailed over a strip of tin roof twenty three feet wide before it fell on the shingles."

The Commons family lost heavily. All their household goods, clothing etc., was totally destroyed.

The "bright parts" of all the agricultural implements—such as the faces of the cultivator shovels, etc.,—were stored in the residence, and were destroyed. The seed grain, tobacco seed, etc., for the spring planting were also destroyed. Not a vestigage of the building remains.

Carpets, Mattings, Rugs.

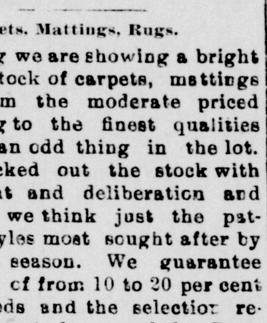

This spring we are showing a bright clean fresh stock of carpets, mattings and rugs from the moderate priced floor covering to the finest qualities made. Not an odd thing in the lot. We have picked out the stock with great thought and deliberation and have secured we think just the patterns and styles most sought after by people this season. We guarantee you a saving of from 10 to 20 per cent on these goods and the selection remember cannot be equaled. Bort, Bailey & Co.

Great Shoe Sale.

Saturday was the last day of the spring opening at Bennett & Luby's, and it certainly was a day to be remembered. A crowd thronged the store all day and until late at night and a force of ten clerks were kept as busy as they could possibly be all of the time. It was undoubtedly the largest single days business done by any shoe firm in the city for a good many years and speaks well for the class of goods carrird by the firm this spring.

ALL Knight Templars are requested to arrange to be at the Northwestern depot tomorrow noon, to leave on the 12:40 train for Fort Atkinson to attend the funeral of the late Sir Knight D. W. Curtis.

ENGINEER CROUSE SUES FOR $50,000

CLAIMS THAT SUM AS DAMAGES FOR INJURY.

As the Result of Being Hurt in the Wreck at the "Black Bridge" Washout Last July, He Will, it is Said, Be Crippled For the Balance of His Life.

Because of injuries sustained in a railroad wreck on the Chicago & Northwestern road, Engineer George Crouse, of this city, has commenced suit against the company for $50,000 damages.

It is claimed that he will be a cripple for life as result of the injury to his back and hip. The wreck in which Mr. Crouse was hurt occurred on Sunday evening, July 26. The regular South bound freight, Mr Crouse being the engineer, ran into a washout two hundred feet below the "black bridge" one mile north of this city. Thirteen cars were piled in the air and the damage was extensive. The night was dark and stormy, and frequent flashes of lighting were all that enabled the trainmen to see their way.

The heavy rain during the night had worked the earth lose opposite a small ravine and by the time the train was due to arrive on the spot the washout had become quite wide and deep. When a flash of lightning illuminated the vicinity the washout was seen by the trainmen and as Engineer Crouse threw wide open the throttle Fireman Ed Gall and Brakeman Ed Horne jumped and saved their lives. The engine shot forward and cleared the washout but the cars were badly wrecked. The shock that followed threw Engineer Crouse with much force injuring his back and hip so that it is claimed he will never fully recover. Mr. Crouse was confined to his bed for several weeks and required constant attention from Dr W. H. Palmer. He now manages to get about with the aid of a pair of crutches.

THE BEER MARKER.

A LITTLE WOOL PUPPET THAT IS VERY POPULAR.

Used to Designate Particular Mugs—Made by One Old Woman—Caricatures of Many Well-Known Politicians.

HERE is one feature of the great beer halls of Germany and particularly of Munich unknown to the frequenters of like resorts in this country, says the New York Herald. It is a feature so simple, so sensible and so picturesque, too, that it is surprising that it has not been imported along with German beer and the custom of beer-drinking in resorts of large size. It is something that all visitors to German beer halls remark immediately and with pleasure and speak of as soon as they get home. This feature is the use of beer markers. A beer marker is nothing more or less than a little puppet of knitted wool, about four inches high. Its purpose is to designate the beer mug you send back to be replenished, so that you may be sure of getting the same one back again and not one used by some other person. They use mugs entirely on the other side and the pewter lids are provided with fasteners which hold your beer marker securely. When the kellnerin returns with half a dozen or more refilled mugs it is an easy matter for the drinker to recognize his own particular marker. It was Munich, the home of the beer, where the custom of using beer markers was inaugurated. The Lowenbrau Keller, one of the most famous resorts in Germany, is the headquarters of the beer marker. An old woman known in every quarter of Germany as the beer-marker woman, has the priviliges of the resort. She knits the quaint markers herself and every evening may be seen wandering from table to table with a basket of them, which she sells for fifty pfennigs, or about 12 cents, apiece. These beer markers are caricatures of well-known men. Emperor William is one of the most popular figures to be seen, a born ruler of majestic presence (knitted), with his manly breast covered with emblems made of tin. His brown yarn mustaches sweep across his face as if they wanted to kiss his ears, while a faint tinge of red paint gives color to his fat cheeks. The little figure is carefully made, and the kaiser grasps his sword as if he were showing his troops the proper way to fight. Bismarck naturally comes next in popularity, and not far behind follow Dr. Windthorst and Eugene Richter, his two greatest political opponents. Note Bismarck's three hairs. They are all he has in the world, and the woman who knit the "iron chancellor" did not forget a single one. Then there is Caprivi Caprivi succeeded Bismarck as chancellor, but did not stay in power long. There was a dead set against his policy from the beginning, but during his short term of office he became noted throughout the empire. This beer marker is not half so effective as that of Lieut. von Breusewitz, who lately set the tongue of Germany agog by killing a civilian in a duel. Brusewitz is more or less of a military bully and his opponent is said to have been guilty of no offense. Hence the stir. The shah of Persia and the emperor of Russia are popular as beer markers, and Boulanger, in red knit trousers, blue knit coat and a beautiful white plume, is still to be seen in the beer halls. At the present time one of the most caricatured men in Germany is Father Kneipp, the noted preacher of the "Kneipp cure." Kneipp's theory is that nervous troubles may be cured if people will systematically promenade with bare feet in the early morning dew. The beer marker shows a philanthropic face and a watering-pot, from which latter the good "pfarrer" obtains artificial dew.

One of the most popular of all the beer markers is the pretty kellnerin, or beermaid, with her gay bodice and her two beer mugs—a familiar figure to the Germans. You also find many examples of "Wurzl," the old vegetable woman with a carrot in her hand and a knobby nose that almost touches her chin. We also frequently see Wurzl Sepp, who, next to the kaiser and Bismarck, is probably the best-known man in Germany. He is a queer old fellow—a hermit, in short—who runs an illicit still among the mountains and who may frequently be seen in this most picturesque costume. A short time ago he was seen at the Berlin exhibition. Lastly comes a little beer marker in a long robe and hood, with a radish in one hand and a beer mug in the other. He is called the "Munchener Kindl," or "Munich child." By some mysterious chain of events, in the olden time the arms of Munich became a little monk or "Monchen," from which we get the German "Munchen," or Munich. Now, the little monk held a bible in one of his hands, and raised the other in exhortation. But in the Lowenbrau Keller we find him with the radish and the beer mug. The radish, it may be added, is an indispensable accomplisment to a mug of beer in Munich. It is cut lengthwise in long, thin strips. It is then opened like a book and each leaf is sprinkled with salt and then closed again.

Soil air is usually contaminated with a number of gases, and is on a par as to quality with sewer gas. Loss of appetite, running through the winter, with tendency to boils and pimples, can be traced to ingress of soil air into the house air from the cellar.

Tailor Made Costumes.

It is a thing to be thankful for that the trim, simple, elegant tailor costume never goes out of fashion. Its minor details and features may vary from year to year, the skirt grow fuller or narrower, the coat longer or shorter, but the general idea remains. Through all the chances and changes the sensible fundamental principle is left unaltered. This season the coat is very short and smart in effect, but a trifle longer than those of the past winter, only in certain materials and for certain figures. The spring and summer skirt models are almost, if not absolute perfection in their lengths, varied shapes and modified widths, and for utility gowns—shopping, traveling, cycling, etc.—serge and mohair remain the favored materials. If there was ever a time in the history of dress when women might be content with what they have it is now, when fashion has reached the acme of all that is graceful, normal and harmonious in outline, coloring and effect. All this is beautifully illustrated in the great domain of dress. In millinery we behold at present the most hideous, startling models, exhibited in every shop window and fashionable emporium, that are tangible expressions and proofs of deplorable and astonishing French dementia worthy the close consideration and study of brain specialists.—New York Post.

A New Occupation.

According to a writer in the Denver Daily News, a woman has developed a new occupation in connection with the Colorado legislature. He says:

I know one woman interested in the workings of the Eleventh general assembly who is making a rather good thing out of it. She can't be accused of lobbying, but she has cleared up more money this session than any of the people who are employed to push or pull bills. She is well posted on the sadly mixed political situation and is simply selling her information. She knows the residence and the political color of every member of the legislature, has a copy of all bills introduced, and keeps track of them. She knows into what committee hands the different measures have fallen and can give the personnel of the committee at a moment's notice, and has a hint as to the members that will listen to talk for or against a measure. That's the kind of information that is in demand, and whenever a man calls and commences to make inquiries about a measure the little bundle of information possessed by the woman in question is placed at his disposal—for a consideration.

The Poke Bonnet.

An interesting element in the general plan of constructing the fabric of fashion in spring is the tendency to effect a revival of some old style, and each season the poke bonnet is vigorously launched and as promptly and vigorously rejected, so it rarely leaves the seclusion of the milliner shop. But this season, no doubt, an extra effort will be put forth to make it popular in honor of the queen's jubilee. The old poke bonnet of 1837 is about as ugly and unbecoming a piece of headgear as it is possible to imagine, and the modern woman has no desire to hide her wealth of waved hair in its depths, but the English fashion writers assure us that the poke bonnet in the hands of a modern artist is a charming possibility even in 1897. In shape it is almost exactly like the one the queen wore the year of her accession to the throne, and it is fine black straw, with a wreath of pink roses around the face inside of the brim. An aigrette of white ostrich feathers trims one side. White moire ribbon passes around the crown, where it is fastened with rhinestone buckles, and ties in a big bow under the chin.

Phœbe Couzins.

Phœbe Couzins, the lifelong advocate of woman's suffrage, has been brought from California to St. Louis, stricken with rheumatism beyond hope of recovery. Speaking of her work for woman's suffrage, Miss Couzins said:

"Three times I have seen women under fire and as many times I have seen them fall, and that ignominiously. I presume this will be looked upon as treason, but the conclusion is reached from long experience, close observation and rare opportunities such as have been accorded to few women.

"Moreover, I look upon the outside life, impelled by necessity, as in a majority of cases to be simply experimental. It cannot be conclusive, for the vast majority of women prefer the quiet domestic life, while man by nature seeks the conflicts of the outer world and its theories and grows therein. Woman in public life will never prove satisfactory. She is naturally a homekeeper. I would advise all young women to marry and become housekeepers."

Rev. Harriet E. Williams.

Rev. Harriet E. Williams, pastor of the Congregational church at Lone Rock, Wis., has personally gone from house to house throughout the village, visiting all the merchants and saloon keepers, and has secured signatures for a measure prohibiting the sale or gift of cigarettes to minors. This petition was presented to the town board and carried. In addition to driving 14 miles each Sunday she preaches three sermons, conducts two Bible classes and is always at the Endeavor meeting. Since Mrs. Williams began work with this church the Sunday school attendance has increased from 25 to 60, and church attendance has doubled. — Woman's Journal.

Trying Again.

The South Dakota legislature has voted by a good majority to submit a woman suffrage amendment. About five years ago a similar amendment was submitted in South Dakota and beaten, but the South Dakota women are eager to try it again. Perhaps they remember that in Kansas the women suffrage amendment got only 9,000 votes when submitted for the first time, but received 95,000 votes when submitted for the second.—Boston Transcript.

THE LIFE OF THE ROSE.

Where are voices kings were glad to hear?
Where now the feast, the song, the bayadere?
The end is nothing, and the end is near.

And yonder lovely rose—alas, my dear!
See the November garden, rank and drear.
The end is nothing, and the end is near.

See how the raindrop mingles with the mere!
Mark how the age devours each passing year!
The end is nothing, and the end is near.

Forms arise and grow and wane and disappear.
The life allotted thee is now and here.
The end is nothing, and the end is near.
—From the Persian.

HER LAST DANCE.

The bolt had fallen that morning, and with numb, folded hands and dry, terror filled eyes she sat in the darkest corner of her gay little drawing room, beneath the ghastly chamber whence were soon to be borne the earthly remains of her husband.

What was she to do? How was she to procure not the luxuries without which she scarce imagined her child could exist, but the bare necessities of life? Every piece of furniture in the house was mortgaged to its full value and her last jewel had gone to pay the rent. Thank Heaven, they could have this haven for some time to come! She was in debt to butcher and baker, and she had not had a new pair of gloves for months. Shillings had become the basis of expenditure as guineas had been hitherto.

In the morning sympathizing friends came to support and assist her through the trying ordeal. All passed like a dream. "Tout passe, tout passe," she said over and over, "but my heart is strong."

When, a month later, she sat with Cousin Selina in the same room, in the same chair, listening again to the gusty rain as it beat against the windows, it was to her as if no appreciable time had intervened. Dreamily she took up the thread of her thoughts where she had dropped it that sad night, and the strange conceit came back to her.

Women less brilliant, but stolid and plodding, were ensconced in journals where she had disdained even to allow her verses to appear. With voices in no way comparable to her, she saw others succeed, while she, who sang like a bird—but like a bird, too, only when inspired—could make no impression. And so, dowered as she was, she was poorer and more helpless than the humblest woman who could conscientiously knit a pair of stockings or embroider a tea-cloth.

The pretty face seemed pinched and weary. Two deep lines began to inclose the drooping mouth. "I smile en parenthese," she said to Cousin Selina as she turned from the mirror, where she was trying to change the expression of those quivering lips, that even at the moment curved upward, a Cupid's bow, at the quaint conceit.

More surely than ever she knew she could ask no favors, but must put her own shoulder to the wheel. But what to do when all else failed? To dance on the stage! Why not? She could dance. All her life she had loved to dance. In her greatest joy she had ever found fullest expression in dancing to her own reflections before the long mirror in her boudoir. A hundred times her darling had been lulled to sleep, eased of her pain by the dancing of her "pretty mumsie." Once, with her husband, she had seen a famous actress—a woman chaste as herself—dance so gracefully, yet with an abandon so perfect, as to captivate an audience accustomed to exhibitions from which she had turned in loathing—to his annoyance, since his taste grew yearly less refined. Even then, "the pity of it," she had sighed. And how much even then was implied that she should say, turning to him:

"That I could do, I am certain."

"May you never need," he had answered fervently, for he loved her and was proud of her, though his paths in life were devious, though he would not follow her. It all came back to her vividly—the gay scene, the eager faces, the murmur of delight, the applause that rose again and again and could not be staid. Her heart beat fast. Yes, she would dance. It might cost her the few friends she still possessed, but as long as she helped herself she could maintain her pride.

Next day became a tiresome round of interviews with impatient, incredulous or impertinent managers, with a heart growing daily heavier and a brain sharpened almost to viciousness. At last an impresario, touched by her grace and the expression of brave despair in her hungry eyes, granted her a trial, fixing an hour at the theater on the following day in the early forenoon. Amid a concourse of women, some sympathetic, some brazenly inquisitive, all so different from herself that she scarce felt they were her sisters, she made her first essay. How unreal it seemed—a dream from which she would waken in a moment!

She has kept her glance straight before her, trying to shut out the crudity of her surroundings—the "sets" all awry, the glimpses of busy carpenters and scene shifters, the flashily dressed men and women waiting for rehearsal and familiarizing in a way that gave her a mental nausea. A row of raw girls in soiled dancing shoes and fleshings, their upper halves clothed in ordinary bodices, went awkwardly through their matutinal drill. The odor of dust and oil and paint began to overpower her, and she was on the verge of losing her self possession when the kind voice of the manager, close behind her, said:

"Your turn, madame. Will you tell me what music you desire?" The orchestra, composed of one violin on the stage, began the swinging accompaniment of "La Paloma," and at the end, and while the blood beat and surged in deafening throbs in her heavy head, again she heard the voice of the manager, seemingly a great distance off:

"Accept my compliments, madame. I shall be glad to offer you a salary of £10 a week. I am sure you will have a success." "Un success fou," he said, turning to the orchestra, who gracefully waved his fiddle, bowed low and replied, "Sans doute." Poor woman, she looked into their eyes to see if they were mocking her. Then, convinced of their good faith, she mustered all her strength, and, with the strange surging still in her ears, smiled, said "I thank you," turned quickly and left the theater. How she got home was always a mystery to her. Martha heard a faint pull at the bell, hastened to the door and found her mistress pale as death, but with her eyes wide open and a set smile on her lips. She put her to bed, held her quivering body till by degrees the tortured soul began to still itself and the overwrought brain found relief in such healing tears as had not come before in all those strained days of trial. And now there was practicing and preparation of costumes, then the first appearance and the many succeeding, all justifying the acumen of her friend the impresario. Gradually all pressing need, the indebtedness, the grinding care, disappeared, and she could have been comparatively happy.

All day, save for the morning hour of rehearsal, she kept Maizie beside her. It was Maizie who made a daily holocaust of unopened billets doux and adorned her nursery with the flowers that invariably accompanied them. It was Maizie who first enjoyed, almost inspired, the dances she invented, and who first praised her "sweet mumsie" in her artistic costumes. Every evening she left the child with a new pang, though she could not but feel her safe with good Martha, and flew on the wings of love to her bedside on her return. Resolutely she shut her eyes to all that displeased her in her new surroundings, and soon her dancing became to her an infatuation. For the time she was on the stage all else was forgotten. Her grief fell from her like a dismal garment, and she stood the personification of laughing youth, grace and joy. Always garbed in white and with a gauzy, winglike scarf—La Paloma they called her after her first dance—she floated in an atmosphere chaste and poetic, too delicate to be misunderstood, and, as before, even the women were charmed. Yes, she might have become content, but daily Maizie grew weaker and more fragile, and her heart failed within her. She would take the child in her despairing arms and hold her so close that the little one would cry out, yet was happy withal in the embrace, for she loved her "mumsie" with a deep devotion and seemed with a strange prescience to understand much.

One night—it was about three months after her debut—she left home a little lighter of heart than usual. Maizie had been feverish that day and had grown quieter toward evening, and they had had a royal game of romps and a "big, big hug and kiss" when she left. Toward the close of the evening she began to grow ill at ease, and throwing her fur lined mantle about her, without changing her costume, she left the theater hurriedly and, jumping into a hansom, was driven home in all haste. The front door was open. From the hall came the voice of her physician:

"Go quickly, or she will not know her."

"Who will not know whom?" she said to herself. "Who will not know whom?" she reiterated to the physician as she walked quickly into the house.

He took her in his strong arms, carried her to the nursery and placed her in a chair beside the child. The dear little face, already fanned by the wings of the angels, flushed softly.

"I was waiting, mumsie," she whispered. "You will dance for me now, will you not?"

She fell on her knees beside the couch and took the little one in her arms.

"Sweet, lovely mumsie," said the child, kissing her bare arms, "you will be a real dove in heaven."

"Maizie, Maizie, do not leave me!" wailed the trembling woman.

"No, mumsie," answered the child. "You shall come too."

The mother gazed at her, speechless and wild with alarm.

"Mumsie," said the little one, trying to raise the heavy little head with the short, golden curls in damp ringlets on the pale forehead, "mumsie, dear, do dance. Perhaps the angels don't dance, and I love it so!"

With a great sob and a supreme effort she rose from her knees, threw off the heavy cloak which was still about her and began to dance. Was ever such martyrdom, ever such bravery? Ah, mother and saint, in other days canonization was often more lightly won. On she danced in the dimly lit death chamber, those outside standing with bated breath, not daring to enter, yet seeing it all. Sweetly the child smiled, lifted the little hand once as if to thank her, then the fluttering eyelids closed, the long lashes rested on the pale cheeks, and she was still. Closer and closer danced the mother, till she leaned anxiously, breathlessly, over the child, fearing to stop abruptly lest she should waken her. Then with a cry that rang through the house, and rings now in the ears of the two who waited outside the door, she fell on the couch beside her angel and the brave heart broke.—Black and White.

Queer Conduct of a Tree.

An unusual incident occurred in the timber near Fossil, Or., the other day. Beaber and French sawed through a tree measuring 13 feet in circumference, and, though they sawed until the teeth of the saw came through on the opposite side, though the tree top was free from all support, though they pried and chopped and wondered and talked, still that tree stood there, and still the saw remained pinched in so tightly that it could not be moved. At last they were obliged to go home, leaving the tree standing on its stump. Next day the tree was down. It had apparently sprung or slid from the stump, striking perpendicularly in the sandy soil at first, making a hole five feet deep and as far across.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

CARPETS MATTINGS RUGS

A bright, clean, fresh stock. Not an old thing in the whole lot.

Ingrains-- We show fifty new pieces, mostly Lowell goods, and all 1897 patterns. Our price on this superior grade of Ingrains is as low as the inferior goods are being sold for. We give you superior quality at the lowest market price.

3-Ply Aggra and Delhi Ingrains..... We have just received fifteen new patterns and are offering them at 10c per yard under the market. If you want a carpet that weighs nearly twice as much as a common Ingrain and in patterns copied from the best Brussels you should ask to see these goods; they cost but a trifle more than the ordinary Ingrain and are superior in every way.

Double Extra 10-Wire Tapestry Carpets..... This grade of Tapestry Brussels is the best made in this country. We are selling them at just 14c per yard less than we did during the great sale of last spring. Every pattern is an 1897 pattern, the new rich colorings and almost as good as a Body Brussels.

Body Brussels, Wilton Velvets & Axminsters. A collection of beautiful new Carpets of the choicest designs. In offering these goods to you we have taken into consider tion the cash prices as against long time prices and will save you from 5c to 25c on every yard. We can afford to make big deals of this kind for spot cash at a lower price than we can sell on long time credit and we give you a substantial benefit.

Mattings- The new tariff adds just 8c per yard on every yard of Matting brought into the country. This means a sharp advance as soon as present stocks are sold out. We have on hand bought at the low tariff prices, about fifty rolls ranging in price from 13 1-2 to 40c per yard If you are thinking of buying Mattings you will be wise to do so before the present stock is exhausted. New purchases are bound to be on a higher basis.

RUGS- On Rugs our strong point is price If you want a door Rug at 75c or a floor Rug at $40 or any size between will guarantee a saving of from ten to twenty per cent. on anything you want to buy.

Spot Cash is the purchasing power that regulates our prices, and as cash is better than credit so cash prices are better than credit prices.
